DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is responsive to communications: Amendment, filed on 8/25/03.

This action is final.

2. Claims 1-3 are pending in this application. Claim 1 is independent claims. In the Amendment, filed on 8/25/03, claim 1 has been amended.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kuc et al. (US 5,594,849).

As per claim 1, Kuc et al. teaches a method for altering a protocol in a magnetic resonance apparatus comprising the steps of:

- (a) displaying a display presentation at a user interface for a magnetic resonance apparatus containing a first parameter in a protocol for operating the magnetic resonance apparatus to obtain magnetic resonance data (col. 1, lines 5-15, col. 7, lines 1-18) and a second parameter in said protocol for operating the magnetic resonance apparatus (col 10, lines 15-33);

(b) in said display presentation, showing a range of values for said first parameter including designating a first sub-range within said range wherein selection of a value does not modify said second parameter, and a second sub-range within said range wherein selection of a value causes modification of said second parameter (fig 11, item 24, col 10, lines 15-33);

(c) if a value for said first parameter is selected in said second sub-range, automatically showing in said display presentation how the value selected for said first parameter will modify said second parameter (fig 11, item 23, col 10, lines 15-33); and

(d) giving a user an option in said display presentation to confirm selection of said value selected for said first parameter or to reject selection of said value selected for said first parameter, via said user interface(fig 11, item 23, col 10, lines 15-33). It is inherent that can still cancel the selection by defining the parameter to zero.

As per claim 2, Kuc et al. teaches a method as claimed in claim 1 wherein step (c) comprises automatically showing how the value selected for said first parameter will modify said second parameter in a pop-up dialog within said display presentation (fig 11, item 23, col 10, lines 15-33).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kuc et al. (US 5,594,849) in view of Hayes et al. (US 6,366,834).

As per claim 3, Kuc et al. teaches a method as claimed in claim 1. However Kuc et al. fails to teach wherein step (b) comprises designating said first sub-range with a first color in said display presentation and designating said second sub-range with a second color in said display presentation.

Hayes et al. teaches a method which comprises designating said first sub-range with a first color in said display presentation and designating said second sub-range with a second color in said display presentation (col 5, lines 50-68).

It would have been obvious to an artisan at the time of the invention to include Hayes's teaching with Kuc et al.'s method in order to give user a better idea of the area that is being zoomed in.

Response to Argument

Applicant's arguments filed on 8/25/03, have been fully considered but they are no persuasive.

Applicant's arguments include the following:

A. Kuc et al. fails to teach a magnetic resonance apparatus that can obtain magnetic resonance data.

B. It is not obvious to combine Kuc et al. and Hayes et al.

Examiner disagrees.

A. Kuc et al. teaches a magnetic resonance apparatus that picks a magnetic field generated by a source of a living body (col. 7, lines 1-18), and this apparatus is manipulated by a control unit (col. 7, lines 1-18).

B. The rationale behind combining of Hayes et al.'s teaching with Kuc et al. apparatus has to do with the displaying and manipulation of the imaging data. It doesn't however involve combining the entirety of the two systems. There fore it is obvious to use displaying method of Hayes et al to manipulate the image data of Kuc et al.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
